

Andrea Anzanello

Assistant European Project Manager

Andrea obtained his Bachelor's Degree in International Relations from the Public University of Milan. After this he moved to Denmark where he obtained a Master's Degree in European Studies from Aarhus University.

Andrea has begun his career as assistant project manager working at different international projects previously at the Danish-Italian Chamber of Commerce and then in France where he managed European projects in the framework of youth mobility.

At Pixel, Andrea manages European projects funded by the Erasmus+ KA2 Strategic Partnership programme in the Vocational Education and Training sector. He carries out the project tasks in collaboration with the transnational partnership, he organises and takes part in meetings, carries out research activities and the dissemination of projects.

Moreover, Andrea supports the management of projects where Pixel is the coordinator, monitoring the creation of project websites and keeping in contact with the partnership.

Andrea is also the responsible for Pixel's Instagram account, where he publishes in progress information about the international activities carried out.
